Uxbridge's 100 Women Who Care continue to make an impact

UXBRIDGE -- As the meetings continue, the donations keep rolling in from members of Uxbridge's 100 Women Who Care.

At their most recent meeting at Wooden Sticks Golf Club, the Uxbridge chapter of the international charity group raised $12,700 which has been donated to The Room 217 Foundation, a not-for-profit corporation and registered Canadian charity dedicated to caring for people through music.

The Room 217 offers therapeutic resources support to comfort, soothe, relax and encourage people facing stress, illness, chronic illness, grief and suffering.

The February meeting where the money was raised was the sixth meeting by the Uxbridge 100 Women Who Care. In that span the group has raised nearly $70,000, which has been distributed to a number of local organizations.

In addition to supporting the local community through monetary donations, the group has also inspired the creation of Uxbridge chapters of 100 Men Who Care, founded by Roger Prince, and 100 Kids Who Care at Uxbridge Public School.

The women's group has more than 100 members and its next meeting is on Wednesday, May 27, at 7 p.m. at Wooden Sticks.
