Medina psychologist awarded for work with LGBTQ youths

BOSTON — The Schwartz Center for Compassionate Healthcare has named Terry Stancin, Ph. D, ABPP, the National Compassionate Caregiver of the Year (NCCY) Award recipient.

The prestigious NCCY Award was presented at the 23rd annual Kenneth B. Schwartz Compassionate Healthcare Dinner on Nov. 8, where Stancin was honored in front of 1,500 health care leaders, clinicians, patients and family members.

Stancin, a clinical psychologist at The MetroHealth System in Cleveland and a Medina resident, helped establish MetroHealth's multidisciplinary Kidz Pride Clinic, one of the first in the nation dedicated to the unique medical and mental-health needs of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and questioning youth.

Since it opened in 2008, the clinic has served hundreds of children, many traveling to Cleveland from hours away, bringing much-needed guidance and relief to them and their families in need of direction.
