

HIS BAA IS WORSE THAN HIS BITE!

Out for a stroll: Marley with Ali and Jess

THIS is no shaggy dog story - Marley the sheep thinks he's a canine.

The six-month-old Swiss breed eats from a bowl, sleeps in a dog bed in front of a warm Aga and doesn't like to go outdoors - unless it's for a walk with his best friend Jess, an actual dog.

He was taken in by Ali Vaughan's family after being orphaned. Ms Vaughan, 34, from Cumbria, said: 'We want him to know he's a sheep.'

So now the family have got him a companion sheep, a brown Ryeland called Bear - because he looks like a bear.

Home comforts: Marley and Ali Vaughan PICTURES: SWNS

IN BRIEF

Boys 'need a little girl power as well'

GERI HORNER says the Spice Girls are working on plans for a reunion - and that boys need some of their famous Girl Power too.

Victoria Beckham, Emma Bunton, Melanie Brown, Melanie Chisholm and Horner have confirmed plans to work together on new projects.

Horner, 45, said everyone needs support. 'I think boys need that encouragement too.'

It's 'Far-gone for Ewan and Mary'

EWAN MCGREGOR has reportedly been dumped by the co-star he left his wife of 22 years for.

The actor (pictured), 46, filed for divorce from Eve Mavrakis, 51, after he was seen kissing his Fargo co-star Mary Elizabeth Winstead, 33, last year. But the couple are said to have hit the rocks, with Us magazine reporting: 'Mary hated being labelled a homewrecker.'

J-Law eyeing role behind the camera

SHE'S one of the world's highest-paid actresses but Jennifer Lawrence hopes to one day direct a movie.

Revealing why she wants to sit in the director's chair, the Hunger Games star (pictured) said: 'It's important to start getting behind the camera so I can make sure there's diversity on all our films.'

The Oscar-winner, 27, also revealed she's executive producing a documentary inspired by the Time's Up and #MeToo movements.

BANANA PHONE IS BACK

Nokia gets nostalgic - by reimagining handset that ruled the '90s

NOKIA'S new smartphone is a blast from the past - but it's no Apple.

The tech company has reimagined its curved Nokia 8110 - dubbed the 'banana phone' when released in 1996 - which featured in 1999 sci-fi movie The Matrix.

The device (pictured) is reborn with

by MARTYN LANDI

superfast 4G internet but, in a nod to the original, has a cover that slides open to unlock the phone and answer calls.

It was unveiled ahead of the Mobile World Congress, which opens in Barcelona today, along with a raft of other new handsets. The flagship is the Nokia 8 Sirocco, which features wireless charging and will cost €749 (£659).

Florian Seiche, of HMD, the Finnish firm selling phones under the Nokia name, hopes the 'unique' devices entice users away from Apple and Samsung.

Meanwhile, Samsung unveiled its Galaxy S9 and S9+ phones - featuring hi-spec cameras and face-scanning technology to create personalised emojis - to rival Apple's iPhone X.

INTRODUCING THE NEW
FLAT WHITE
WE'RE SO SURE YOU'LL LOVE IT,
— THIS ONE'S FREE —

This voucher may be redeemed for one free regular Flat White. Valid at participating restaurants Monday 26th and Tuesday 27th February 2018.

This voucher entitles you to 1x regular Flat White. Over 16s only. Excludes all other drinks. No cash or other alternative available. One offer per voucher holder. Voucher valid for dates shown. Voucher will be retained. Not for resale or use in conjunction with any other promotion or offer. Photocopies and scans will not be accepted.

