

A bit on the side

Stylish side tables can be tricky to find, but the modern, geometric Riley design ticks all the boxes. The wooden tables are expertly crafted, with bone inlaid into teal or yellow resin by hand, and come in bold, pop-art shapes that are beautiful enough to be left bare. £475, grahamandgreen.co.uk

Art attack

We're big fans of these bold, bright graphic art prints by illustrator Tomartacus, which depict scenes of east London. Perfect for kickstarting your own gallery at home. £50 each, asplashofcolour.com

Wow-factor wallpaper

Prepare to be wowed by the first wallpaper collection from Silken Favours, packed with cute, quirky and fantastical prints not to be missed. Think candy stripes splattered with juicy fruits, unicorns and rainbows and cacti and cats on a pastel peach backdrop. £125 per roll, silkenfavours.com

Bed in a box

This innovative Simba Sleep mattress might just take the headache out of buying a new bed – and you'll get the perfect night's sleep. The 'one-mattress-fits-all' concept is designed to suit every sleeper and arrives neatly rolled up in a box delivered to your door. £399 for a single, johnlewis.co.uk

Dahlicious chocs

Celebrate Roald Dahl's centenary year with these chocolate bars inspired by his books. Our faves are James' Scrumptious Peach (white chocolate with peach and chia seeds) and Mr Twit's Beardy Breakfast (milk chocolate with banana, yoghurt, lapsang souchong tea and honey). £5.50 each, rococochocolates.com

Eau zone

Fruit-infusing bottles are still high on our health radars, so we love this large dispenser version, which allows friends and family to get a hit of zingy cold water on tap at any time. £29.99, infruition.co.uk
